Coffey for removing city documents, brought to trial or quashed. Mr. Van Vechten told the Court that he had been waiting for the Indictments to be tried for the past ten months. He said that the reason District-Attorney Fleming had never brought the cases to trial was because he had no evidence, and also that the indictments were defective. District-Attorney Fleming sent for District-Attorney-elect Noble, and asked him if he would try the Indictments during his term. Mr. Noble replied by asking Fleming why he did not try them himself. District-Attorney Fleming then made a motion to Judge Garretson to let the indictments go over until Noble's term, which was granted.

Counsellor Van Vechten entered demurrers to the indictments. Judge Garretson took the papers and reserved his decision. Mayor Gleason for conspiracy in connec-
